

Indonesian Garment Factory Struggles Amid US Tariff War

【关税战冲击印尼服装业：订单骤减、市场转移、未来何去何从？】

Summary: For nearly 30 years, an Indonesian garment factory in Central Java has served major US clothing brands. Recent US tariff hikes, initially set at 32% and later reduced to 19%, disrupted exports and squeezed profits. Factory manager Daddy Muly highlights canceled orders and the need to diversify markets beyond the US. Meanwhile, Chinese manufacturers see little advantage in relocating to Southeast Asia due to similar tariffs. Indonesian officials remain hopeful for better trade terms despite current challenges.

摘要：近30年来，印尼中爪哇的一家服装厂一直为美国知名品牌供货。然而，美国关税战导致订单骤减，初始32%的关税虽降至19%，仍严重冲击利润。工厂经理Daddy Muly表示正转向日本和欧洲市场以弥补损失。中国制造商因东南亚关税与中国相近，暂无意转移产能。印尼政府虽接受当前协议，仍对重新谈判持乐观态度。

⌂ Of course, this policy was unexpected because with this tariff war, all of our estimates have been thrown off.

当然，这一政策出乎意料，因为关税战打乱了我们所有的预估。

⌂ We usually export to the United States.

我们通常向美国出口。

⌂ And now with the tariff war hitting our regular market in the US, it has affected our margins.

如今关税战冲击了我们在美国的常规市场，影响了我们的利润空间。

⌂ In April, US President Donald Trump imposed a 32% levy on Indonesian goods.

今年4月，美国总统特朗普对印尼商品加征32%的关税。

⌂ But under a deal signed last month, it was reduced to 19%.

但根据上个月签署的协议，税率降至19%。

⌂ Within weeks, however, other Southeast Asian countries struck similar agreements, essentially leveling the playing field.

然而几周内，其他东南亚国家也达成了类似协议，实质上拉平了竞争环境。

⌂ What we know so far, Trump is really unpredictable.

就目前所知，特朗普确实难以预测。

⌂ You know, he can change his mind over overnight and so on and so forth.

你知道，他可能一夜之间改变主意，诸如此类。

⌂ So, at least for the current situation, 19% is still understandable, although it's not necessarily fair.

因此，至少就目前情况而言，19%的税率尚可接受，尽管未必公平。
