🎧 Our North America editor Sarah Smith has more on that newly released transcript.

我们的北美编辑莎拉·史密斯关于新公布的笔录有更多报道。

🎧 Yes, so we have now seen the transcripts from this interview with Ghislaine Maxwell that was conducted by the Deputy Attorney General and it's really really fascinating.

是的，我们现在已经看到了副司法部长进行的这次对吉斯莱恩·麦克斯韦采访的笔录，这真的非常非常引人入胜。

🎧 I mean one can assume that one of the reasons that they have been released is that it's almost entirely good news for Donald Trump information.

我的意思是，人们可以假设它们被公布的原因之一是这对唐纳德·特朗普来说几乎全是好消息。

🎧 He will be very happy to have out there in the public domain.

他会很高兴这些内容出现在公共领域。

🎧 Ghislaine Maxwell said that she although she did use to see Donald Trump socially had never seen him receiving a massage from any of the young women around Jeffrey Epstein, she had never seen Donald Trump in any kind of inappropriate situation whatsoever she said.

吉斯莱恩·麦克斯韦说，虽然她过去确实在社交场合见过唐纳德·特朗普，但从未见过他接受杰弗里·爱泼斯坦身边任何年轻女性的按摩，她说她从未见过唐纳德·特朗普处于任何形式的不恰当境地。

🎧 She was asked about that infamous so-called client list of Jeffrey Epstein's which has been so much speculation a lot of it from Donald Trump supporters about whether he kept this client list and used it to blackmail powerful and influential people.

有人问及那个声名狼藉的所谓杰弗里·爱泼斯坦的客户名单，对此有诸多猜测，其中很多来自唐纳德·特朗普的支持者，关于他是否保留了这个客户名单并用来勒索有权有势的人。

Well, Ghislaine Maxwell said she was unaware of him keeping any kind of list like that and then she also went on to say that she didn't think Jeffrey Epstein killed himself in prison.

嗯，吉斯莱恩·麦克斯韦说她不知道他保留了任何这样的名单，然后她接着说她认为杰弗里·爱泼斯坦不是在监狱中自杀的。

His suicide or not has been another source of a huge amount of speculation and conspiracy theories and the other thing that's very interesting in this transcripts is you can actually see the Deputy Attorney General saying to Ghislaine Maxwell that he is not promising or anything in return for this testimony and yet we know that less than a week after she gave this interview she was moved into a minimum security federal prison camp somewhere considerably more pleasant to be than the prison that she had been in before that.

他是否是自杀一直是大量猜测和阴谋论的另一个来源，这份笔录中另一件非常有趣的事是，你实际上可以看到副司法部长对吉斯莱恩·麦克斯韦说，他没有承诺任何东西作为这次证词的回报，然而我们知道，在她接受这次采访后不到一周，她被转移到了一个最低安全级别的联邦监狱营地，那里比之前她待的监狱要舒适得多。

不会有任何停火，什么都没有。

▶ It's terrible that double people are dying, totally terrible, and we want to stop this.

可怕的是人们在成倍地死亡，完全可怕，我们想阻止这一切。

▶ I've spoken to lots of Ukrainians who don't feel anything will come out of this.

我和很多乌克兰人谈过，他们觉得这不会有什么结果。

▶ What do you say to Ukrainians who think that we're in the same position as we were a week ago?

对于那些认为我们和一周前处境相同的乌克兰人，你会说什么？

 00:19:10

▶ Maybe I'm showboating, but Washington felt like a success.

也许我是在作秀，但华盛顿感觉像是一次成功。

▶ Why?

为什么？

▶ Because yes, Ukraine needs security guarantees, but without the U.S., Europe will not give us everything it can.

因为是的，乌克兰需要安全保障，但没有美国，欧洲不会给我们它能提供的一切。

▶ I don't know how this will end, but this is much better than it was a week or two ago.

我不知道这将如何结束，但这比一两周前要好得多。

▶ We saw unity in Washington.

我们在华盛顿看到了团结。

▶ It's still political, but it's just the first step of everyone working on security guarantees.

这仍然是政治性的，但这只是每个人致力于安全保障的第一步。

bilibili 00:19:34

▶ But we'll what the guarantees they agree on, convince Russia it needs to come to the table.

但我们将看看他们同意的保证是什么，说服俄罗斯它需要回到谈判桌前。

▶ Katie Watson beeps in news in Keith.

凯蒂·沃森在基思发回新闻报道。

▶ Well, the chairman of the U.S. Federal Reserve has indicated interest rates could soon be cut that in his final address to the annual Jackson Hole Economic Forum.

好吧，美国联邦储备委员会主席在其向年度杰克逊霍尔经济论坛发表的最后一次讲话中表示，利率可能很快会被下调。

▶ A drone Powell, who steps down next year, also highlighted the twin economic risks of a slowing labor market and rising inflation.

即将于明年卸任的杰罗姆·鲍威尔还强调了劳动力市场放缓和通胀上升的双重经济风险。

bilibili 00:19:59

▶ For more, let's listen to our business correspondent, Erin Delmore.

更多详情，请听我们商业记者艾琳·德尔莫尔的报道。

▶ Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell began his speech by comparing this year to the one prior.

美联储主席杰罗姆·鲍威尔在演讲开始时将今年与去年进行了比较。

▶ What he didn't mention is something new, and that's been on the forefront of Fed Watcher's minds.

他没有提到的是新情况，这一直是美联储观察人士最关心的问题。

▶ He's been a prime source of President Trump's iron.

他一直是特朗普总统愤怒的主要来源。

bilibili 00:20:17

▶ That's a rarity for the chairman of the famously independent central bank.

对于这家以独立性著称的中央银行的行长来说，这是很罕见的。

▶ But what he did say, though, in not as many words, is that the Fed's decision-making is being complicated by a U.S. economy reshaped by Trump's second term agenda.

但他确实说过，尽管没有明说，美联储的决策正因特朗普第二任期议程重塑的美国经济而变得复杂。

▶ President Trump has restricted immigration, that impacts the job market, and implemented a sweeping tax cut and spending bill, which has far reaching implications for spending, saving, and the deficit debt and growth.

特朗普总统限制了移民，这影响了就业市场，并实施了一项全面的减税和支出法案，这对支出、储蓄、赤字债务和增长具有深远影响。

 00:20:41

▶ But chiefly, Chair Powell examined the impact President Trump's tariff policies having, particularly on inflation.

但主要是，鲍威尔主席审视了特朗普总统关税政策的影响，特别是对通货膨胀的影响。

▶ Economists have debated whether President Trump's sweeping changes to trade policy will be inflationary, that is, marked by persistent price increases, or a one-time increase.

经济学家们一直在争论特朗普总统对贸易政策的全面改革是会导致通货膨胀（即以持续的价格上涨为标志），还是一次性的上涨。

▶ Chair Powell said he expected the latter, but cautioned that one time doesn't mean all at once.

鲍威尔主席说他预计是后者，但警告说一次性并不意味着一下子全部发生。

 00:21:02

▶ He said it will take time for tariff increases to work their way through supply chains and distribution networks, signaling a prolonged period of rising prices.

他说，关税上涨需要时间在供应链和分销网络中传导，这表明价格上涨将持续一段时间。

▶ The back and forth over what tariff rates are in effect, complicate the picture.

关于实际生效的关税税率的反复变化，使情况复杂化。

▶ So Powell conceded that it could all spur more lasting inflation, and said the central bank would work to keep that from becoming the case.

因此，鲍威尔承认，这一切都可能刺激更持久的通货膨胀，并表示央行将努力防止这种情况发生。

 00:21:21

▶ Now, what investors heard was an increased likelihood of an interest rate cut in September.

现在，投资者听到的是9月份降息的可能性增加了。

▶ They sent American stocks rising at the conclusion of the speech, and the Dow Jones industrial average closed at an all-time high.

他们在演讲结束时推动美国股市上涨，道琼斯工业平均指数收盘创下历史新高。

▶ So Aaron Delmore there, and joining me now is Matthew McGuire, former U.S. executive director of the World Bank.

以上就是艾琳·德尔莫尔的报道，现在加入我们的是世界银行前美国执行董事马修·麦圭尔。

 00:21:38

▶ Thank you so much for joining us in the studio today.

非常感谢您今天来到演播室。

▶ Thanks for having me.

谢谢邀请。

▶ So we've just heard there the Dow hitting a fresh record as investors were looking for clues in Jerome Powell's speech.

所以我们刚刚听到，道指创下新纪录，因为投资者在杰罗姆·鲍威尔的演讲中寻找线索。

▶ Does it seem like a rate cut is on the way?

看起来降息即将到来吗？

🎧 It looks as though it is, but this is largely what the market was expecting anyway.

看起来确实如此，但这很大程度上是市场预料之中的。

 00:21:54

🎧 I think the numbers I saw today were about 65% of investors were expecting a small rate cut in September.

我想我今天看到的数字是大约65%的投资者预计9月份会小幅降息。

🎧 Now it's about 85%.

现在大约是85%。

🎧 So we have more certainty that we're going to get that rate cut, but not entirely surprising.

所以我们更确定我们会降息，但这并不完全令人惊讶。

🎧 And given all the data we've seen, I think most market participants were clear that this was something which was not unlikely.

考虑到我们看到的所有数据，我认为大多数市场参与者都清楚，这并非不可能。

 00:22:14

🎧 Okay, so a boost to the stock market, that seems to be going quite well.

好的，所以对股市的提振，似乎进展得相当不错。

🎧 Does that mean that the economy is in good shape?

这是否意味着经济状况良好？

🎧 Well, this is the thing, is that what they're grappling with right now is that the Fed has to do two things.

嗯，问题是，他们现在正在努力应对的是，美联储必须做两件事。

🎧 One, try to keep inflation down as much as it can, and then try to keep employment up as much as it can.

第一，尽可能降低通货膨胀，第二，尽可能保持高就业率。

 00:22:32

▶ Because of tariffs, we're seeing the exact opposite.

由于关税，我们看到了相反的情况。

▶ So tariffs are driving inflation.

所以关税正在推高通货膨胀。

▶ Remember, he said today we're at about 3% and he expects that to continue going forward.

记住，他今天说我们现在的通胀率大约是3%，并且他预计未来还会继续。

▶ That's quite a bit above the 2% rate that the Fed would like.

这远高于美联储希望的2%的水平。

▶ And then we've seen a real collapse in hiring.

然后我们看到招聘人数真正崩溃。

▶ So over the last three months, we've only seen about 35,000 jobs created each month.

所以在过去三个月里，我们每个月只看到大约35,000个工作岗位被创造出来。

 00:22:53

▶ Compare that to 2024, we saw about 170,000 jobs.

与2024年相比，我们看到了大约17万个工作岗位。

▶ More importantly, within those very small amount of jobs have been created 80% or an 8 healthcare.

更重要的是，在这些非常少量的新增就业岗位中，80%或八成是医疗保健行业。

▶ So if you're not in healthcare, this job market looks pretty awful.

所以如果你不在医疗保健行业，这个就业市场看起来相当糟糕。

▶ And that's what the Fed is dealing with.

这就是美联储正在应对的情况。

⏮ Both of those issues inflation and jobs are a result of the tariffs.

通货膨胀和就业这两个问题都是关税的结果。

🎵 00:23:12

⏮ And so for your average American family who is trying to parse through a lot of this economic talk, what is this going to actually translate into?

那么，对于一个试图解析这么多经济言论的普通美国家庭来说，这实际上会转化成什么？

⏮ Well, the actual rate cut won't translate a whole lot.

嗯，实际的降息不会转化太多。

⏮ It may drop a little bit, mortgage rates and auto loan rates and things of that sort.

它可能会下降一点，抵押贷款利率和汽车贷款利率等等。

⏮ But the things that most Americans really have to grapple with are, do I have a job as my job getting better?

但大多数美国人真正必须应对的是，我有工作吗？我的工作变好了吗？

🎵 00:23:33

⏮ And then where are the costs that I have on a monthly basis?

然后我每月的成本在哪里？

⏮ Right now, neither one of those is looking good.

现在，这两方面看起来都不好。

⏮ And monetary policy can't fix the impacts of tariffs entirely.

货币政策无法完全抵消关税带来的影响。

⏮ It's at the margins, but really tariffs are driving all of our economic issues right now.

它只能起到边际作用，但目前真正引发我们所有经济问题的其实是关税。

⏮ And is it already clear the full extent of the influence that these tariffs are going to have?

这些关税将要产生影响的全部范围已经清楚了吗？

 00:23:52

⏮ Or will this be something that could have ripple effects in the months and years to come?

还是说这将是未来数月乃至数年内会产生连锁反应的事情？

⏮ This is the point that your correspondent made, which I think is really important, where Chairman Powell said that while these may be one time, they may not happen all at once.

这正是你们的记者提出的观点，我认为这一点非常重要，即鲍威尔主席所说的，这些影响虽然可能是一次性的，但它们可能不会同时发生。

⏮ And the point is these keep changing.

关键在于这些情况一直在变化。

 00:24:06

⏮ So one of our largest trading partners is China.

我们最大的贸易伙伴之一是中国。

⏮ We've now seen another pause in working on a deal there.

我们现在看到在达成协议方面又一次出现了停顿。

⏮ So we may have tariffs that kick in on what we're doing with Japan and Korea and EU.

因此，我们可能会在与日本、韩国和欧盟的贸易中开始征收关税。

⏮ But until we see them kicking on China, which may come four, five, six months from now, we won't see the full landscape of what we can expect going forward.

但直到我们看到对中国的关税生效（这可能发生在四、五、六个月之后），我们才能看清未来预期的全貌。

 00:24:25

⏮ And Jerome Powell has been under huge pressure from the Trump administration to cut borrowing costs.

杰罗姆·鲍威尔一直承受着来自特朗普政府的巨大压力，要求他降低借贷成本。

▶ Do you think the comments he made today were in any way in response to that pressure?

你认为他今天的评论在某种程度上是对这种压力的回应吗？

▶ No, he's a true professional.

不，他是一个真正的专业人士。

▶ He has been about the data, his whole career, when he's been on a Wall Street, when he's been at the Fed.

他整个职业生涯，无论是在华尔街还是在美联储，都始终以数据为依据。

 00:24:42

▶ And the data is what it is.

而数据就是事实。

▶ The numbers I mentioned recently on the labor market, those are really concerning.

我最近提到的劳动力市场数据，那些确实令人担忧。

▶ And he had to take a look at those.

他必须审视这些数据。

▶ So no, I don't think Trump's jaw-burning is changing the way that Chairman Powell is making his decisions.

所以不，我认为特朗普的施压并没有改变鲍威尔主席做决定的方式。

▶ What do you think will happen when it comes time for him to be replaced?

你认为当需要替换他的时候会发生什么？

 00:24:57

▶ We'll see.

我们拭目以待。

▶ Clearly, President Trump wants someone who's more dovish, if you will, and will cut rates even farther.

很明显，特朗普总统想要一个更鸽派的人，如果你愿意这么说的话，一个会进一步降息的人。

▶ But we'll see.

但我们会看到。

▶ There's still 12 people who get to vote on that.

仍然有12个人对此有投票权。

▶ And so we'll see where it goes.

所以我们会看到事态如何发展。

▶ But I think the real thing to watch is not monetary policy.

但我认为真正需要关注的不是货币政策。

▶ This is a bit of a side show.

这有点像是一场杂耍。

 00:25:13

▶ It's really about what are the impacts that terrorists have on ordinary Americans, their job prospects, and the cost of goods that they have to pay for?

真正重要的是关税对普通美国人、他们的就业前景以及他们必须支付的商品成本产生了哪些影响？

▶ You mentioned some of the industries that are going to be most affected here.

你提到了一些将受到最大影响的行业。

▶ In which sectors do you think we're going to see the greatest impact from tariffs?

你认为我们将在哪些行业看到关税带来的最大影响？

▶ Clearly, we're seeing it in groceries.

很明显，我们在食品杂货上已经看到了。

 00:25:30

▶ Think about an awful lot of things that we buy.

想想我们购买的非常多的东西。

▶ Mangoes, bananas, coffee.

芒果、香蕉、咖啡。

▶ We're getting tariffs on those things.

我们对这些东西加征了关税。

▶ We cannot grow them in the U.S.

我们在美国无法种植它们。

▶ So if you like any of those goods clearly, you're going to be paying more costs.

所以，如果你明显喜欢任何这类商品，你将支付更高的成本。

▶ Autos is the big thing.

汽车是重头戏。

▶ And let me give you a way to think about this.

让我告诉你一个思考这个问题的方法。

▶ Is one of the big components of autos are rare earths, which China largely controls.

汽车的一个主要组成部分是稀土，而中国在很大程度上控制着稀土。

 00:25:50

▶ And so as China is part of the retaliation, if they pull back on rare earths as they have been, our auto industry isn't real, real jeopardy.

因此，作为报复的一部分，如果中国像一直以来那样减少稀土供应，我们的汽车工业将陷入非常、非常大的危险。

▶ So those are two places that I would start.

所以我会从这两个方面开始。

▶ And those are things that matter to everyday Americans.

而这些是关系到每个普通美国人的事情。

▶ Well, thank you so much.

好的，非常感谢。

▶ We've been speaking with Matthew McGuire.

我们一直在和马修·麦圭尔交谈。

bilibili 00:26:04

▶ Thank you.

谢谢。

▶ I'm Claire Richardson.

我是克莱尔·理查森。

▶ Thanks so much for joining us.

非常感谢您的参与。
