

Tonight at 6: Charities Sever Ties with Duchess of York, Reform UK's Immigration Overhaul, and Trump's Autism Claim

【BBC晚间新闻 20250923 英国改革党宣布计划取消大量合法移民的永居身份，要求他们重新申请签证 | 约克公爵夫人慈善丑闻】

Summary: Charities cut ties with Sarah, Duchess of York, after a leaked 2011 email showed her calling convicted sex offender Jeffrey Epstein a "supreme friend." Reform UK announced a plan to revoke indefinite leave to remain for many legal migrants, forcing them to reapply for visas. Former US President Donald Trump suggested he would link acetaminophen use in pregnancy to autism, a claim widely disputed by scientists. Pop star Harry Styles secretly ran the Berlin marathon under a fake name, finishing in under three hours.

▶ That's the numbers currently being granted indefinite leave to remain status each year.

这是当前每年获得#无限期#居留权身份的人数。

⏮ But let's take a step back and look at the total number of people who could go on to claim it in future years.

但让我们退一步看未来可能申请该身份的总人数。

bilibili 00:08:45

⏮ At the end of last year, there were just over four million people here on temporary visas who arrived between 2015 and 2024, so are potentially in scope.

去年底，有刚超过400万持临时签证、于2015至2024年间抵达英国的人可能符合范围。

⏮ Now of these migration experts say around 2.1 million, so just over half, had a potential path to settlement because of the type visas they are on.
