🎧 He's long complained about the EU treating the US very unfairly.

他长期抱怨欧盟对美国极不公平。

🎧 This is what he had to say about the bloc back in February.

以下是他在2月对欧盟的评价。

🎧 It was formed in order to screw the United States.

欧盟成立就是为了坑害美国。

🎧 I mean, let's be honest, the European Union was formed in order to screw the United States.

坦白说，欧盟成立就是为了坑害美国。

🎧 That's the purpose of it.

这就是它的目的。

🎧 And they've done a good job of it, but now I'm president.

他们干得不错，但现在我是总统了。

🎧 Well in response, the EU's Ursula von der Leyen says that a 30% tariff on EU exports would hurt businesses and consumers on both sides of the Atlantic.

欧盟主席冯德莱恩回应称，30%关税将损害大西洋两岸企业和消费者。

🎧 In a statement on X, she goes on to say, we'll continue working towards an agreement by August 1st at the same time we're ready to safeguard EU interests.

她在X平台声明中表示将继续争取8月1日前达成协议，同时准备捍卫欧盟利益。

🎧 And in a separate letter to Mexico's president, Mr. Trump cites Mexico's role in the illicit drug fentanyl flowing into the US, saying Mexico has been helping me secure the border, but what Mexico has done is not enough.

在致墨西哥总统的另函中，特朗普指责墨西哥未能阻止芬太尼流入美国，称其边境合作力度不足。

▶ One in a series of several letters that he's been writing to countries around the world threatening to impose these tariffs ahead of the renewed deadline of 1st August.

这是他在8月1日新期限前向多国发出的系列关税威胁信之一。

▶ And this is the same kind of language that he's used when he talks about imposing higher tariffs, you know, even higher tariffs if there is trans shipment.

其措辞与他此前威胁加征更高关税（包括转运情况）时如出一辙。

▶ And also asking for complete market access.

同时要求全面市场准入。

Back to Top

 00:02:09

▶ That's what he's done with the European Union, asking for complete market access for America and saying that, as you said, that for years he's believed that the trade relationship between both countries is detrimental to US interests, which is why he is taking this decision.

他对欧盟提出同样要求，并称多年认为双边贸易关系损害美国利益，故作出该决定。

▶ But having said that, you know, talks between both sides have been difficult.

▶ When it comes to what President Trump is doing, is this a negotiating tactic?

特朗普总统此举是否谈判策略？

▶ Because arguably negotiations are underway and it feels like he's giving a little bit more time.

谈判仍在进行，他似乎给予更多时间。

▶ But he is putting the pressure on what you make of his gameplay, so to speak.

但也在持续施压，您如何看待这种策略？

Back to Top

▶ I think he's been high-balling the EU starting off at 20%, then threatening 50%, saying there's 30% on the table, making it sound like there's a concession there.

我认为他对欧盟采取高压策略，从20%起步，威胁50%，再提出30%看似让步。

▶ But this is all a game to try and heap on pressure onto the European negotiators to try and make concessions in areas that they simply cannot move on and things like health and safety regulations, corporate taxes, value added taxes.

实为迫使欧方在健康安全法规、企业税、增值税等不可妥协领域让步。

▶ The things the Americans want the Europeans can't give.

美方要求正是欧方无法满足的。

▶ And I think that's why we've heard so little of substance about what this outcome of this negotiation could be.

因此谈判可能结果仍不明朗。

▶ And that's why I fear we are heading for a train wreck unless the Europe seriously reconsidered its position or the Americans pull back on the basis perhaps of some type of financial market reaction.

除非欧盟重新考量立场或美方因金融市场反应退缩，否则恐将走向灾难。

▶ So when you say the EU reconsidered its position, what do you mean by that?

您所谓欧盟重新考量立场具体指什么？

Back to Top

 00:04:52

▶ Because we know at the heart of this Donald Trump really hates, absolutely, despises the trade deficit.

众所周知特朗普极度厌恶贸易逆差。

▶ Some economists say that arguably it's not the worst thing in the world to have a deficit.

有经济学家认为逆差并非最糟情况。

▶ It means the economy keeps moving forward.

意味着经济持续运转。

▶ But what can the EU do?

但欧盟能做什么？

▶ So on the deficit, let's be clear, the good deficit that the US has with the EU is pretty big, but the US has a big service is surplus.

需明确：美国对欧盟商品逆差虽大，但服务贸易顺差可观。

Back to Top

 00:05:17

▶ So when you put the two together, actually there's just a much smaller deficit.

两者相抵后逆差规模小得多。

▶ So the problem to solve quote is actually much smaller than people think.

待解决问题比想象中小。

▶ From a pure economics point of view, having a deficit or a surplus over time is not inherently problematic.

纯经济学角度看，长期逆差或顺差并非本质问题。

▶ But President Trump's complaints are very structural about how American products are being treated.

但特朗普的抱怨针对美国产品待遇的结构性问题。

Back to Top

 00:05:41

▶ And the things he wants to see changed are the types of things which countries, big countries are very reluctant to negotiate in trade deals like health regulations of the far reaching type that he has in mind and tax changes.

其要求的改变涉及健康法规、税收等大国通常不愿在贸易协定中谈判的领域。

▶ And these are largely off limits for big players.

这些对大国而言多是禁区。

▶ And so I think in that sense, he's asking for stuff that the Europeans largely can't give unless they absolutely abandon that approach, which would be a major change in strategy.

因此欧洲除非彻底改变战略方针，否则难以满足要求。

Back to Top

 00:06:10

▶ I don't see how this ends well.

我看不到圆满结局。

▶ So if they don't abandon that, if they can't, then when do you see this ending up?

若无法改变，您认为结局如何？

▶ Well, I think there are several possible outcomes.

可能有几种结果。

▶ One is that the Americans keep pushing and they've keep running into this European wall and they give up or they get distracted.

一是美方持续施压却碰壁后放弃或转移注意力。

▶ All there's a financial market reaction to the prospects of all of these different tariffs coming to force on the first of August.

或是金融市场对8月1日关税生效前景作出反应。
