▶ The surprise is that the attack took place at this moment and in Doha.

令人惊讶的是袭击发生在这个时刻以及发生在多哈。

▶ Both of those were surprising, both because of the content and timing of negotiations, which have been underway for some time and without success to date to achieve a ceasefire release of hostages, but also because Doha is a critical security partner for the United States.

这两点都令人惊讶，既是因为谈判的内容和时机（这些谈判已进行一段时间，但至今未成功达成停火和释放人质），也是因为多哈是美国的关键安全伙伴。

bilibili 00:07:07

▶ It's quite unclear at this point.

在这一点上还很不清楚。

▶ I will say this.

我要这么说。

▶ The record of history, recent history has shown that simple kinetic elimination of targets, of leaders off a chart, off a board, rarely produces substantive changes in the fundamental positions of the organization so long as it believes it will survive, perhaps without the leadership cadre it had.

历史的记录，近代史表明，简单的动能清除目标、将领导人从图表上移除，很少能对该组织的基本立场产生实质性改变，只要它相信自己能生存下去，也许即使没有了原来的领导层。

▶ That is, of course, Prime Minister Netanyahu's priority as well.

这当然也是内塔尼亚胡总理的优先事项。

▶ So, back to the point you were just making, does this expedite the potential release of hostages or is this more likely to make Hamas double down?

那么，回到您刚才提出的观点，这会加速人质潜在释放的可能性，还是更可能让哈马斯加倍强硬？

 00:07:55

▶ Look, there have been a series of what we might call shaping actions undertaken by the Israeli Defence Forces as well as rhetoric accompanying them from the political leadership of Israel, the strikes on the towers, the high rises in Gaza City, the ongoing incursions around and into Gaza City on the ground.

看，以色列国防军采取了一系列我们可以称之为塑造行动的行动，以及以色列政治领导层随之而来的言论，对加沙城塔楼、高层的袭击，以及在地面上持续围绕并进入加沙城的行动。

▶ All of these, I believe, are intended to pressure Hamas to take a decision in favor of an acceptable ceasefire and hostage release arrangement, but they haven't succeeded to date.

所有这些，我相信，都是为了向哈马斯施压，迫使其做出有利于可接受的停火和人质释放安排的决定，但迄今为止它们都未成功。

▶ And the question is, can they do or is Hamas determined to resist this type of pressure, whether directed internally or now externally at its leadership and continue with the fight?

问题是，它们能做到吗？还是哈马斯决心抵抗这种压力（无论是针对其内部还是现在针对其领导层的外部压力）并继续战斗？

 00:08:36

▶ The jury is out on this, but again, I would be very skeptical that a decisive change in Hamas' calculations would be the product of today's actions.

对此尚无定论，但我再次表示，我非常怀疑哈马斯的算计会发生决定性变化是今天行动的产物。

▶ In terms of the broader international relations here, condemnation, as we've heard, for many world leaders, including critically across the Arab world, President Erdogan of Turkey, your former diplomatic posting, has said he's in touch with the Qataria to discuss a possible joint response.

就更广泛的国际关系而言，正如我们所听到的，许多世界领导人，包括关键的整个阿拉伯世界，都进行了谴责。土耳其总统埃尔多安（您曾驻派的国家）表示，他正与卡塔尔方面联系，讨论可能的联合回应。

▶ What could that be?

那可能是什么？

 00:09:05

▶ I suspect that any real response, joint or not, would be rhetorical and political, rather than something beyond that.

我怀疑任何真正的回应，无论是联合的还是单独的，都将是#言辞上的#和政治上的，而不是除此之外的其他东西。

▶ Look, the gutterie government was very quick to assert, after initial reports that it was withdrawing from a negotiating role, that in fact it was going to continue.

因为卡塔尔认为自己在加沙问题上扮演关键角色对未来至关重要，正如过去那样。

▶ Just as the United Arab Emirates, the Saudis also wish, and Egypt, of course, to have a role there.
