▶ So, Gary, let's talk to you in Washington. You were taken by a surprise, and it was quite a moment.

“加里，请连线华盛顿。这次突访令您意外吧？”

▶ Yeah. I mean, we work these channels. We try and build these contacts over time, and I had a particular reason to try at this point in time because I was at Butler in Pennsylvania a year ago when there was that attempt on Donald Trump's life where he almost lost his life to that assassin's bullet.

“一年前宾州枪击事件后，我持续争取采访机会。”

Back to Top

 00:02:41

“原以为无望，昨晚却接到白宫来电。”

▶ And I began by asking the president when I sort of shaken myself down how he felt about that night and the effect upon him.

“他促成英美贸易协定，实属难得。”

▶ So you're going to meet the Prime Minister when you go in July, but in September, what do you want to achieve for the state visit?

▶ I think just we want to have a good time and respect King Charles because he's a great gentleman.

▶ And in terms of Britain's sort of role in the world, do you think there is this special relationship that British politicians often claim there is with American?

 00:06:56

▶ Thank you very much for your time, Mr. President. Thank you, Gary. It's a great honor.

“感谢您接受采访。”“荣幸之至。”

▶ Of course, a lot of ground covered there from his views on Britain to his legacy, but some striking words on Vladimir Putin.

专访涵盖英美关系至政治遗产，但对普京表态尤为尖锐。

▶ Now, we know this President can change his mind from moment to moment from week to week, but there does seem to be a significant shift in his views on Russia right now.

尽管特朗普立场多变，但对俄态度显见转变。

Back to Top

 00:07:23

▶ Gary, in Washington, thank you very much.

感谢华盛顿的加里。

▶ Well, let's talk now to our political editor, Chris Mason, who's at Westminster, and our Moscow editor, Steve Rosenberg.

现连线西敏寺政治主编克里斯与莫斯科主编史蒂夫。

▶ So, see, let's just pick up on those comments about Vladimir Putin. President Trump expressing his clear frustration.

聚焦特朗普对普京的失望言论。

▶ Yeah, it was interesting hearing how disappointed President Trump is with Vladimir Putin.

“特朗普对普京的失望值得玩味。”

Back to Top

 00:07:45

▶ It may be think Donald Trump does not have the monopoly on disappointment, right?

“克宫同样深感失望。”

▶ The Kremlin is surely going to be deeply disappointed that after all the effort it's put in.

“俄方半年努力未换得特朗普妥协。”

▶ After the last six months, it still hasn't managed to persuade Donald Trump to accept Russia's arguments on Ukraine and Russia's terms and conditions for ending the war in Ukraine.

“俄方未能说服特朗普接受其乌克兰立场。”

Back to Top

 00:08:09

▶ That's how it feels right now. The question is, is Vladimir Putin done with Donald Trump?

“当前关键是：普京会放弃特朗普吗？”

▶ We haven't heard from the Kremlin leader on this subject for the last couple of days, but I doubt that very much, because the Kremlin knows very well that Donald Trump is driven less by ideology and more by a desire to do deals.

“特朗普重交易轻意识形态，俄方或继续接触。”

▶ And that suits the Kremlin pretty well.

“此点契合克宫策略。”

 00:08:33

▶ So, I think it's very likely, despite the current tension that conversations will continue between the Kremlin and the White House.

“尽管紧张，对话仍将持续。”

▶ And Chris, in Westminster, reassuring words from Donald Trump about the UK's relationship with the US and about the PM in particular?

“克里斯，特朗普对英美关系及英首相的肯定是否令政府欣慰？”

▶ Yeah, absolutely. I think a sense of vindication here from the government about this strategy, this 12-month strategy of flattery and relationship building with the President.

“政府一年来奉承策略获验证。”

 00:09:00

▶ There was the call shortly after the assassination attempt. There was the visit to Trump Tower in New York last September before the election.

“枪击事件后致电、选前访特朗普大厦。”

▶ Then that trip to the White House in February, with the theatrics, the presentation, the letter from the King about the state visit coming in September.

“二月白宫之行铺垫九月国事访问。”

▶ And what I think the Prime Minister has managed to do is translate the President's existing affinity for the UK into an affinity with the Prime Minister, despite the fact that there are vast differences of character and indeed of politics.

“首相成功将特朗普对英好感转化为个人纽带。”

Back to Top

 00:09:29

▶ They'll be meeting again later this month in Aberdeenshire when the President visits one of his golf courses, meeting with the First Minister of Scotland too.

“本月将在苏格兰高尔夫球场再会。”

▶ And then two questions. One is, to what extent can the UK and the government leverage this good relationship in the months and years ahead?

“未来如何利用此关系？ ”

▶ And then as Gary was pointing out a moment to go, what if things change?

“若特朗普态度突变？ ”

Back to Top
